REAL ESTATE BROKER SAYS FENG SHUI WORKS

Bonnie MacAllister, successful Real Estate Broker and businesswoman in central Ohio, comments on her experience working with classic Feng Shui. Intuitive Concepts is honored to be associated with such professional and influential people. According to MacAllister, "The economy is encouraging us to be conservative and innovative; and to look at our business practices, spending habits, and lifestyles with new eyes. As a Real Estate Broker, I find that making our homes and offices more vibrant and supportive is still a good investment, even in these challenging times.

I was the first woman to win the Ohio Small Business Person of the Year Award some years back, so I bring a business-savvy approach to anything I put my mind to. I am blessed to know wonderful people and influential clients, and am fortunate to be in very good health. I consider myself an organized and grounded person with the gift of communication and people skills.

I met Diana Garber a few years ago through a business venture for a new mall. After listening to and learning from her, I became very curious and interested in Feng Shui. I had been experiencing success, but many of my projects would never come to fruition. I decided to try Feng Shui even though there wasn't necessarily anything I really wanted to 'fix'; I just needed more peace, calm and completion in my life. I never imagined that making a few changes would make such a difference. I noticed a positive difference right away, I feel and sleep better, and my phone is ringing again!

There are many reasons to be worried and fearful today, especially if one follows the news. I, on the other hand, am feeling hopeful and energized. As Diana says, this is an investment that keeps on giving, and minimizes efforts to maximize return ... and more importantly, it works!"
